FLOOR DEBATE

March 26, 2002      LB 1085

SENATOR BRASHEAR: That is the people's plan in its latest version. That's the one that reduces the sales tax rate, puts taxes on businesses, and prepares us for the shortfall that is before us in the next biennium.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And if we're going to speak affectionately, that is known as the "red..."

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...plan."

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: I'm calling it the "red plan." Thank you.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Chambers. The motion to recommit. Senator Hartnett. Senator Hartnett.

SENATOR HARTNETT: I waive.

SENATOR CUDABACK: He waives his right. Senator Vrtiska.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Thank you, Senator Cudaback. My...this...this is not the culture corner back here, I want you to know, but we do have some people with some level of ability. And I think some of them are conspiring now to determine the direction we're going to go. I have made...I made my suggestions earlier in our discussion about where I think we should go, but one thing I didn't say, and I need to say, and I think I'll make it very plain, that part of our problem needs to come out of cuts rather than out of raising any kind of tax. Where do we cut? I don't know. But I do think that we need to address that issue more seriously. I, again, want to say that this is not criticism against the Appropriations Committee, because I know they worked hard and long to come up with something that they could present to us, that they thought could be accepted. Apparently there
